- Cost savings program of ~SEK 14m announced

Q3 results

Sales came in lower than expected at SEK 22m (-18% vs. ABGSCe 27m), -22% y-o-y. Sales were primarily lower due to lower sales volumes and timing effects from two key customers. On outlook, the company states that it is seeing signs of increasing demand from both existing and new customers, and that its goal is to achieve better results in 2026 with the help of improving volumes and its reduced cost base.

Analyst valuation methods

ABG Sundal Collier analysts may publish valuation ranges for stocks covered under Company Sponsored Research. These valuation ranges rely on various valuation methods. One of the most frequently used methods is the valuation of a company by calculation of that company's discounted cash flow (DCF). Another valuation method is the analysis of a company's return on capital employed relative to its cost of capital. Finally, the analysts may analyse various valuation multiples (e.g. the P/E multiples and the EV/EBITDA multiples) relative to global industry peers. In special cases, particularly for property companies and investment companies, the ratio of price to net asset value is considered. Valuation ranges may be changed when earnings and cash flow forecasts are changed. They may also be changed when the underlying value of a company's assets changes (in the cases of investment companies, property companies or insurance companies) or when factors impacting the required rate of return change.
